Dear Mr. Pruitt,

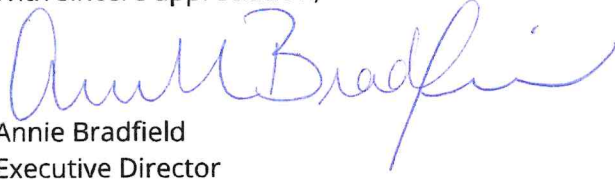

Thank you for The Pruitt Foundation's generous donation of $10,000 to Blue Ridge Wildlife Center (BRWC). Your increased investment this year will have a direct and measurable effect on the care of native wildlife and on the development of the next generation of conservation professionals.

BRWC operates as a licensed wildlife hospital serving Virginia and the surrounding region, admitting approximately 4,000 patients annually. These animals present with conditions ranging from traumatic injury to infectious disease and environmental toxin exposure. Philanthropic support allows our veterinary staff and trained rehabilitators to apply current best practices in diagnostics, anesthesia, surgery, pain management, parasite treatment, and pre-release conditioning. Outcomes are tracked for each case to guide individualized treatment plans and to improve protocols across species.

Your gift will also strengthen our professional training program. Trainees work alongside clinicians to gain technical skills such as radiographic positioning, laboratory analysis, wound care, fluid therapy, and habitat-appropriate shelter design. This workforce development model expands capacity for patient care while contributing to field-wide standards in wildlife medicine.

Please accept our heartfelt thanks for believing in this mission. We would be pleased to welcome you to the Center at any time so you can see firsthand how your gift is making a difference.

With sincere appreciation,

Annie Bradfield
Executive Director
